

LISA X. WALDEN

BIO

Lisa X Walden is a speaker, author, and consultant dedicated to helping people create authentic, empowering workplaces that don't inspire the dreaded Sunday scaries.

As co-founder of Good Company Consulting, she's delivered her message to organizations across the globe and strives to create deep mindset shifts that help people better collaborate, communicate, and prepare for the workplace of the future.

Lisa is co-author of Managing Millennials for Dummies, and is currently wrapping up her next book, The Future is Human: How the Pandemic Made the Case for People-First Workplaces.
