

INTRODUCTION

LISA X. WALDEN

I'm excited to introduce our speaker, Lisa Walden. Lisa is a sought-after communication and culture expert, and co-founder of Good Company Consulting. {Her mission is to help people create workplaces that don't suck.}

Lisa's background is in generational sociology. She's been studying people at work for over a decade, partnering with organizations across the world to uncover the secret sauce behind truly great organizations.

Lisa is the co-author of Managing Millennials for Dummies, and is currently wrapping up her next book, The Future Is Human, which takes a closer look at how the pandemic will forever change the way we work.

We're thrilled to have Lisa here today to share her latest insights.

Alternate sentence: Her company's mission is to help people create awesome workplaces.